Supporting Children's Well-Being in a Changing World with Charlene Siddon

Charlene Siddon has over 27 years of experience teaching in a variety of settings. Motivated by the personal experiences of her students and the worsening mental health crisis, Charlene returned to university and completed her Master of Education degree in Social Emotional Learning at University of BC–Okanagan in 2021. She developed an evidence-based strategy focused on building capacity for mental well-being and resiliency. She is especially interested in ensuring equity and excellence in education by supporting learning environments that respect cultural diversity, inclusivity and emotional well-being.

The workshop will be from 6:00 – 8:00 pm on Thursday, April 30 in the Library at Timberline School with dinner and child minding provided.

Early years professionals will receive a certificate for 2 professional development hours.

Workshop topics will include:

- understanding attachment
- matching approaches to the child's developmental stage, temperament and personality
- boundaries and effective strategies
- navigating digital and social challenges
